- ✓ Proper tense forms in Introduction, Material and methods, Results and discussion and conclusion
- ✓ Avoiding common mistakes while fabricating a manuscript

Dr.S.Sujata started the session by interacting with students. She told that Scientific English contributes a lot in the regular communication of research to peer reviewed and high impact journals. Even though the research abilities of some researchers is commendable, lack of efficient skills to communicate their findings remain a hindrance to connect with the like-minded research community across.

The two day program was a great success during which the students were well-trained through the programme. Dr.S.Sujata taught about the proper choice of tense while preparing a draft/manuscript. A brief on avoiding enthuse fillers was helpful for the students in preparing them for poster and oral presentations.

Overall the training program was a grand success and the participants anticipated similar sessions in the near future.

The program effectively enhanced my ability to express ideas clearly in English.
I appreciated the interactive sessions that helped me improve my listening skills.
The practical exercises were very useful in boosting my confidence in speaking English.
Including more real-life scenarios or role-plays would make the sessions more engaging.

Program was winded up by vote of Thanks and all students felt this program was very useful and they expecting like these programs in future.

Make the Participants to analyze the following

- ✓ Analyzing data using MS Excel
- ✓ Project Management
- ✓ Statistical Analysis of Research Works

The session was conducted to train and provide valuable inputs to the students and faculty about Advanced MS Excel program. It was our pleasure to have MS Office training expert from Audisankara college of Engineering and Technology, Nellore Mr. Samuel John Peters to lead the session. He explained and demonstrated the MS Excel program in a clear manner. He also added a note on Designs of Anova that can be calculated by MS Excel Program. The tips and tricks provided to the students were highly accommodating to perform the statistical analysis in their research works. Students felt that this workshop was incredibly helpful in expanding and understanding of Excel's advanced features and they felt much more confident using functions like INDEX-MATCH and PivotTables.
